

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

In this last chapter, the writer presents a). conclusion, and b). suggestions

A. Conclusion

Based on the findings and interpretation in the previous chapter, it can be concluded that H_0 (the null hypothesis) was rejected and H_a (the alternative hypothesis) was accepted. From the statements it can be concluded that teaching narrative reading text by using 3H (Here, Hidden, in my Head) is more effective than grammar translation method, or in other way, it can be stated that there was a significant difference in students' reading achievement taught by using 3H strategy and grammar translation method to the tenth grade students of Arinda Palembang.

B. Suggestions

Based on the basis of the conclusions above and based on the study that has been done. After implementing 3H (Here, Hidden, in my Head) strategy, the result of the reading test on the experimental group shows the improvement after the treatment was conducted. So, the writer would like to give some suggestion. They are as follows:

1. For Teachers of English

From the findings of this study encourages the writer to suggests the teachers of English, especially for teachers of English at senior high school of Arinda Palembang to apply many kinds of teaching strategies in helping students learn reading. One of them is 3H strategy that had been effective in teaching reading text.

2. For Students

The students of senior high school of Arinda Palembang are expected to have high motivation, especially, intrinsic learning motivation. Therefore, it is hopefully that they will be more active and creative in teaching and learning process. As a result, learning achievement also will be better than before.

3. For the Institution

The writer suggests the institution, especially for senior high school of Arinda Palembang to facilitate the teacher of english and the students with any kinds of books, especially english books to make teaching and learning english more interesting and effective.